

Clare Verga
National Director of Secondary

Week 11 – it’s been a week of visitors!

- 2 visitors from the University of Cambridge joined us for an assembly on higher education options – thank you to Professor Crowley and Dr Wardle for their time.
- 13 students from Years 9-11 welcomed Prof Crowley and Dr Wardle in their home languages - a massive well done to you all!
- 1 REACH day for Year 9 with educational talks about drugs, gangs, mental health, crime prevention – thanks again to all our visitors.
- 1 visit from our National Director of Secondary, Clare Verga and our National Lead for Inclusion, Lizzie Rhodes – thank you for coming to see us from London!

Our 9 habits focus for the week

Why is it important	What it looks like	What it sounds like
Being forgiving shows you can move on from mistakes that are made and not hold a grudge.	Everyone remaining calm and not taking things personally.	"I am sorry for what I did." "I accept your apology, let's move on from this now."
Being forgiving gives you a strong moral character that builds positive relationships.	Strong working relationships between everyone. Situations resolved quickly so everyone can move on – there are no arguments.	"Thank you for understanding and saying sorry."
Being forgiving can lead to a happy and healthy life.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE